

National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness Day

February 7

National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness Day is observed each year to raise awareness of HIV within Black communities and show support for people living with HIV in these communities.

Only 14% of the U.S. population is Black, but 43% of new HIV diagnoses are Black.

In 2020, 12,557 Black people were diagnosed with HIV in the United States.

Black gay and bisexual men are more affected by HIV than any other group.

In 2020, 27% of new HIV diagnoses were Black gay and bisexual men.

Between 2016–2020, the number of new HIV diagnoses among Black women in the U.S. decreased each year.

61% of Black people living with HIV in the U.S. were virally suppressed in 2019.

Viral suppression is when a person has very low levels of HIV in their blood. People who are virally suppressed cannot pass HIV on to sex partners.

How you can prevent HIV transmission

If you are living with HIV, take your medications as prescribed to stay healthy and greatly reduce the risk of passing HIV to a sex partner.

If you are HIV-negative, ask your doctor about pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP), a daily pill to prevent HIV.

Regardless of your status, use a condom when you have sex. Condoms reduce the risk of getting HIV and other sexually transmitted infections.

New HIV Diagnoses

We want everyone to start talking more about HIV, STIs, Hepatitis C, and sexual health. We want to break down the stigma and misconceptions that surround HIV, Hepatitis C and sexually transmitted infections. We want to lift up the voices of those who are living with HIV and those who are impacted – and make sure they are the ones leading the way forward.
